What to look for

Here are some ways you might notice signs of cancer

Sometimes symptoms of a cancer can include:

- weight loss
- no appetite
- lump
- skin changes
- sores that don’t heal
- vomiting (being sick or ill)
- changes when you go to the toilet
- a cough that will not go away

If you are worried, tell someone and see your doctor

Tests you might have:

- x rays and scans
- biopsy - a small piece of the lump/tissue is looked at to see if there is cancer in it.
- blood tests - a nurse or doctor may take a small amount of blood with a syringe. This can be tested for signs of cancer. If you are frightened of this you can ask for a special cream to be put on first so you feel it less.
